Doment is a toolkit designed for preserving everyday moments that are often precious and worth remembering.

OUR STORY

We wanted to explore how families can make more meaningful connections given our ever increasing digital world. In many ways, contemporary children have more sustained interactions with their tablets, than they do with their own parents and the rest of the physical world around them. How can we build stronger relationships and nurture bonding across generations?

This type of ever growing interest in addressing these important but unanswered questions, has led us to develop Doment.

“

Unlike many ‘serious’ products... the souvenir always contains a built-in emotional value, such as a memory of a past journey or the affection of a far-away friend.
